

File 20101225.2145: Notes for next meeting with Dr Martin: I have been thinking about what my thesis statement is now. No need to change the title at all. The accreditor model of accreditors with different security clearances on different sides of a CDS with different knowledge of security risks and risk mitigations who will not violate security policy is still valid. Interpretation in terms of that model is still valid.

References