

File 20101021.2138: Marso, when I described my research yesterday—at the point where I narrated pulling the pin on the CT&E baseline position of the risks—laughed and said that the chaotic motion of risks in orbit around my sheet of plywood struck him as a particularly accurate characterisation of developer–accreditor interactions during the negotiation T&E process.

References