

File 20100526.1016: Notes from Secure Coding Book Club this morning:

Liz Wright was presenting.

- General Keith Alexander is dual-hatted: cyber warfare and DIRNSA.
- c4isrjournal.com
-
- wullenweber antenna: elephant cage?
- Golf ball radomes are used to hide the vector that radar dishes are pointed. If all the antennas suddenly re-pointed one day at noon, that would give away OPSEC information.
- The value of partial jamming is that it lowers the adversary's confidence in the signal, and sometimes will provoke a retransmission, which gives the receiver another chance to exploit it (such as when trying to intercept burst transmissions).

References