

File 20081229.1642: Interesting (see [1, p. 3]) that Amazon explicitly states in their security policy that all customer data is on-line all the time (spread across multiple geographically separated locations) and consequently they do not do backups.

References

- [1] Amazon Web Services. Overview of security processes, September 2008. <http://aws.amazon.com/>.