

File 20100808.1934: Designing systems with failure tolerance to be able to work in degraded mode even whilst in a non-deployed or partially deployed configuration has saved many a space probe mission.

References