

File 20090617.1345: Notes from reading group seminar today (I presented):

- Shamal suggested that a case study of successful evaluations would be a significant contribution. We discussed my case studies: one negative, one positive, and one experimental.
- (also Shamal) For qualitative interviewing, design the questions so as not to steer the process inadvertently.

References