The assessors agreed to a date of 29th August for submission and either 7th September or more probably Thursday 8th for a viva. Julie Sheppard is on board with those dates. Busy writing now, working on all parts of the dissertation but concentrating on chapters that the assessors need to look at.

The R'' programme manager clarified for me on Tuesday some of the last few years' direct/overhead funding struggles between the R developer and the Navy programme office. This ties in with Rost and Glass's (2011) examination of subversive stakeholders.

The Department of Computer Science 2011 Student Conference web site and conference submission process have been set up. The conference will take place Friday, 18th November 2011 in lecture theatre A.

There are 21 weeks to submission. I will buy plane tickets for Oxford tonight.
