

File 20100420.1100: The talk on RM 5.0 new capabilities went well. At least one entirely new application for RM was suggested by a participant in the call: guarding software licence server traffic across security domains. That could potentially save the government a tremendous amount of money in duplicated software licence costs. I passed the lead on to Olav and Jeff; Olav sent it to Craig Christensen and told him to get a PFM assigned. There were 64 participants on the multicast and I've got back positive feedback again.
