

File 20101018.1440: Notes from L-code meeting today at 1400: PMA this year focusses on both absolute and relative performance. You not only have to perform adequately, you have to perform better than everyone else who is also performing adequately. This year, they [Gary Fasano?] are enforcing the high and low end percentages of the bell curve.

Annual enrollment is this week. Mine is done.

Mike Pahl asked if there were any snags (C&A related) on RM 5.0. Kevin replied that several bugs have been found by Ian and others in the past few days, some of them serious, but nothing affecting certification. We have permission to field TSABI. Waiting on permission to field SABI; that will happen after next week's CDTAB deliberation on the next batch of TORAs and DSAWG giving approval for the first SABI installations. RM 5.0 is on the UCDMO baseline; the developer is just waiting for the bureaucracy to finish processing the paperwork.

A press release is being written this week to take some of the wind out of TMAN's sails. They issued a press release last week. The press release that Olav asked for this morning was actually for the same thing as the one Larry wrote last week. Larry is said to have liked mine better. Olav and company are in Denver this week along with the RM Programme Office, and Dan Griffin is expected to approve the press release.

If you did not receive notification by 1st October that you are to be RIFFed, then you won't be, at least not until January. All of the notifications that are going out have gone out.

Ken McFadden got burned by the Lockheed Martin EIG divestiture; he is no longer with Lockheed Martin at all.
