File 20090304.1240: Firesmith says: threats are all around us, but they only become potent when they exploit a vulnerability (those are called risks).

References